Alexander Peskanov's Piano Concerto No. 7 was inspired by the 50th Wedding Anniversary of composer's friends Judith and Murray Siegel. The first movement has a vibrant spirit that reflects the dynamic life of these two people. The second movement is lyrical and tells about the passion of love and the strength that makes a great marriage. The third movement is based on a motif from an old Jewish song that the composer's grandfather David used to sing during family gatherings. About the Author: This brilliant pianist can create incredible excitement and knows how to please a crowd.
